Dear Sunlight care,
This is a letter of encouragement - You all are doing swell with the terminal patients. You are listening to the patients, that's everything and listening is everything.
Yes, doing the daily chores such as changing bedding and administering meds is part of your job. You do it well.

Yet, you give by listening - always, from the aids to the nurses, to the social workers, and the administrators, you always listen to the patients.
One day, out of nowhere, a patient will express gratitude. It may have happened already. That thank you is just the beginning. You all are going way past what is expected of you. You are listening.
What you hear there will be remembered there, while you are listening.
The patients are filling you with love. The day will come as you will appreciate greatly what is given to you the staff by the terminally ill. Your gratitude will be great, and it has already started...
